1 Program Value

This unique Project Management Training Program includes training, consulting, certification preparation, exam, and PMI® membership.

The success of Method's unique training program is rooted in its effectively built structure that is based on Best-In-Class practices and standards of project management and adult learning and the exceptional experience of the trainer. Furthermore, Method has recently overhauled the whole training program based on the latest changes in the PMP exam, which are in turn based on the latest PMBOK® 4th edition. Also, feedbacks from worldwide candidates who have taken the exam have been taken into consideration. These considerations include:

- The exam today focuses more on integrated implementation of project management rather than separated knowledge areas. So, while many exam preparation training courses and books worldwide focus on knowledge areas, this program focuses on the integrated philosophy of project management that PMI® endorses.
- The material is broken down into carefully studied modules with quizzes and a practice exam to help participants gauge their understanding of the material as they go.
- At the end of the training there is a simulated practice exam to help participants identify areas they need to focus on while studying for the exam.
- More focus on soft skills of project management that PMI® deems necessary for a successful project manager. This includes covering the PMI® spirit of managing projects that is implied in the PMBOK® and other PMI® publications.

2 Target Audience

Project Managers, Functional Managers, and team members who are looking for an understanding of project management, and who are looking for practical but effective ways to implement proper project management principles and methodologies on their projects, in addition to people who intend to pass the PMP® Exam Certification.

3 Program Description

3.1 Program Objectives

3.4 PMI® Standards applied in this Program

While many Project Management training companies focus solely on the PMBOK®, Method training program goes beyond the PMBOK® to apply PMI® best practices and standards identified in five important PMI® standards which are:

- Standard One: Guide to the Project Management Body of Knowledge, fourth edition (PMBOK® 2008) is the American National Standard Institute (ANSI) approved reference for project management. This standard is used to build the material in accordance to PMI's terminology and spirit in implementing project management
- Standard Two: Project Management Competency Development Framework (PMCDF) identifies the core elements of competency for project managers and provides key information on how to build these competencies.
This valuable standard is used to ensure that competency development activities during the program cover the core competencies identified by this standard and follows effective practices in building these competencies.
- Standard Three: Organizational Project Management Maturity Model (OPM3) provides description of the core elements of organizational maturity in project management. Unlike other programs, Method's comprehensive program also covers organizational maturity issues that greatly influence the project manager's ability to effectively and successfully manage projects.
- Standard Four: Registered Education Provider standards (REP) which ensure that Method as one of the leading global registered education providers of PMI® follows the training guidelines and quality standards set by PMI® for its providers. PMI® reviewed method training methodology and material and based on this review gave Method the REP designation indicating PMI's approval of Method's curriculum and methodology in training project management.
- Standard Five: Code of Professional Conduct (CPC) that stresses the ethical values and professionalism in project management.

6 Fees & Logistics

6.1 Dates & Times

Method PM Training and PMP® Certification program usually starts on a Sunday (on the dates mentioned below). The program will run over three consecutive weeks, Sunday to Thursday, 4:00 to 8:00 PM, making a total of 15 sessions (five days a week for three weeks). Total program duration is 60 hours.

Upcoming Run: From Jun 26th to Jul 14th, 2011

6.2 Venue

The Training will be held at the brand new state of the art training facilities of GURUS, the professional service training firm at Abu Al Haj complex, 8th Floor. GURUS venues have an advantage over five stars hotel facilities in many ways. The most important is the fact that they are custom designed specifically for training purposes and for the comfort of training participants. Furthermore their design and setup promotes modern adult training themes such as active training, group discussions, exercises, and interaction among participants and the facilitator. Also, GURUS provides a private setting for participants to interact and also network during breaks in comfortable and professional lounges, away from the hustle and bustle of a hotel venue.

6.3 Fees

Cost per participant is JD 850. Price includes an original copy of the PMBOK® Guide 4th edition in addition to Training material and certificates by Method as a Registered Education Provider of the PMI®.

6.4 Registration
